

NE NSS Festival (Agartala) & BEST VOLUNTEER and N.E. EXTEMPORE WINNER

Six NSS Volunteers from Pachhunga University college NSS participated in NE NSS festival held in Agartala, Tripura, on 23rd-27th September 2024. Grace Lalrinpari Hauzel from Mizoram, an NSS Volunteer with the Pachhunga University College Unit won the extempore speech competition, which is the only individual competition held during the festival. The N.E. NSS festival was held in Agartala, Tripura, on 23rd-27th September, in which 8 states participated, with more than 300 volunteers taking part in it along with their POs. During the festival, the volunteers visited important sites that foster a great understanding of history. The NSS NE festival includes events where different northeastern states exhibit their culture and traditions. During the festival, an extempore speech competition was held where two volunteers from each state represented their states. Grace Lalrinpari Hauzel from NSS, PUC Unit won the extempore speech, which is the only individual competition held during the festival. The NE NSS festival 2024 includes various activities to train the youth for personality development for community service and commitment for the nation. Grace Lalrinpari Hauzel was selected as the Best Volunteer among the participants all over north-east India. Her active participation, contribution, and dedication during the festival earned her the title of Best Volunteer during the festival.

Programme Officer, NSS
Pachhunga University College
Aizawl : Mizoram

Signature of Programme Officer with seal
Programme Officer
NSS Unit, Pachhunga University College